

Living Hope

Darcy Siggelkow

Read 1 Peter 1:3–9

Questions: What do you know about Peter, the author of this book? In what ways do you relate to him?

Followers of Jesus are people who intentionally live today in light of tomorrow.

Questions: How does what you believe about tomorrow define today? Do you have a personal example?

Our vision of the future is what determines how we understand the present.

Victor Frankl in his book “Man’s Search of Meaning” observed that there was a group of people who were actually able to overcome the horrors of Auschwitz because they had a fixed reference point beyond this world.

Question: What is your “default” response to hardship or difficult situations?

Question: What does Peter offer in this passage as this fixed reference point?

Whatever shapes your vision of tomorrow wields enormous influence over your lives.

Questions: What is shaping your vision? What is one change you will make today that will be different because of the living hope you have in Jesus?
